

Hosted by
A. Scott Bolden | Partner, Reed Smith

An Evening with Raymond Lambert
Author, *All Jokes Aside: Stand Up Comedy
Is A Phunny Business*

Monday, February 29 2016
6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Reed Smith Office
1301 K St NW, Washington, D.C. 20005

Cocktails and hors d'oeuvres compliments of Reed Smith.
Books will be available to be signed.
Space is limited, you must RSVP to attend.

Raymond Lambert was working on Wall Street when he met comedian Steve Harvey, catching his first glimpse of the funny business that would change his life. In 1991, Lambert opened All Jokes Aside, a comedy club on Chicago's South Side, which helped launch the careers of today's most famous comedians, such as Chris Rock, Jamie Foxx, Mo'Nique and Dave Chappelle.

Reed Smith invites you to a captivating conversation with Raymond as he shares his entrepreneurial journey building All Jokes Aside and its eventual closing. An Entrepreneur, Adjunct Professor, and Filmmaker, Mr. Lambert earned his BA in Marketing from Morehouse College and his MBA from the University of Virginia Darden School.

ReedSmith